A RUSS APPEAL TO PRESIDENT

Moscow Seeks To Resume Trade Relations.

APPEAL TURNED OVER TO STATE DEPARTMENT

America but Little Interested in Russian Desires.

Officials and Business Men Are Frankly Skeptical of Promises and Proposals Which Come from the Soviet.

Washington, March 23.—The United States government will not officially concern itself with the ...ain of gold that may arrive in this country from Russian forces, it was said at the state department, today, in response to inquiries concerning the new administration's attitude toward a re-sumption of trade relations with Russia.

The appeal which the Moscow authorities addressed to President Harding for the establishment of friendly commercial relations has reached Washington, it was announced today. The message came to the White House late yesterday and was sent to the state department, where it was apparently mislaid, because Secretary Hughes said, at 11 a. m., it had not been received. Later, he found that it had and hastened to correct the statement he had made to correspondents.

A Russ Appeal.

Washington, March 23.—While administration officials were cautious about commenting, today, on the appeal from Moscow for a resumption of Russian-American trade relations, it was indicated that the position of the United States is similar to that of the storied Missourian: "show me."

Officials are frankly skeptical about tales of enormous amounts of Russian gold being available for purchases abroad. Figures in the possession of some officials show that the Russians, instead of being plentifully supplied with gold and other valuables, are in reality "about broke." Whether these figures are accurate is not known, but it is the view of high officials of the administration that there can be no resumption of trade with Russia until she produces something more tangible than talk to back up her desire to trade.

Title to Gold.

The title of the gold, granting that Russia possesses it in sufficient quantity to attract commercial ventures, also is being taken into consideration. The British got around this question by leaving the whole matter up to the British courts for adjudication, should the title be disputed.

Officials declined to state, today, whether or not Russian trade representatives would be received officially here, should they be sent, but it was the general belief that they would be. The mere reception of a committee with proposals would not in any way commit this government to recognition of Moscow, or constitute official negotiations.

On the contrary it was pointed out to decline to receive delegates would be tantamount to turning down Russia's propositions in advance of their presentation and without knowing exactly their nature.

CHECK FORGER AS A "GOOD SAMARITAN"

Denver Crook Carries Groceries to the Poor.

Denver, March 23.—Abraham Zetter, youthful philanthropist, played the "good samaritan" to a dozen or more needy families here, while he accumulated a substantial bank account through forged checks.

Police arrested Zetter today on a charge of forgery, alleging that he tendered forged $10 and $13 checks in payment for two or three dollars' worth of groceries, receiving the balance in cash.

Zetter deposited the groceries on the doorstep of some poor families, after he had investigated their circumstances.

Wage Cut Announced.

Chicago, March 23.—Wage cuts of five to twenty per cent. and affecting everyone of its 45,000 men and women, including officials and executive officials, were announced today, by the Internation Harvester company under a progarm of retrenchment and reconstruction, based upon an experts analysis of present business possibilities and working conditions."

MAY DEVELOP MANILA HARBOR

City May Be Shipping Center of the Pacific.

MAJOR GENERAL WOOD TO SUBMIT FINDING

On Possibilities of Manila and Its Development.

United States Shipping Board Has Plans All Worked Out. General Wood Is To Report on Their Feasibility.

Washington, March 23.—The attention of Major General Leonard Wood is expected to be called, upon his arrival in the Philippines, to the possibilities of Manila as the future center of the shipping interests of the Pacific.

Plans have already been worked out by the United States shipping board and other American shipping interests, it was learned today, for making Manila one of the greatest ports of call in the world and the success or failure of the plans may depend to a great degree upon the report to be rendered by General Wood and former Governor W. Cameron Forbes, second member of the commission.

While the program of the shipping board has not been brought officially to the attention of Secretary of War Weeks, the war department was represented on an inter-departmental committee which recently made a detailed study of the Philippine question and Secretary Weeks stated, today that General Wood's report would deal comprehensively with the possible development of Manila as a great shipping center.

General Wood is understood to have had access to the report of the inter-departmental committee, which was made up of representatives of the shipping board, the war department, navy and commerce departments.

Secretary Weeks has made it plain that the Woods-Forbes mission is going to the Philippines primarily as a result of President Wilson's recommendation to congress that the Philippines be given their independence. Reports reaching the administration, the secretary states, have cast some doubt upon the feasibility of granting freedom to the islands.

Inasmuch as the problem of communication is almost inextricably bound up in that of transportation and defense, the Wood mission is also expected to give some time and attention to the cable situation in the Pacific, particularly with reference to the islands of Yap, Guam and the Philippines.

Will Retire.

Washington, March 23.—Major General Leonard Wood will retire from active service in the army to become the head of Pennsylvania university after he returns from the Philippines. It was learned at the war department. The general notified Secretary Weeks recently that if he was nominated for the university post, as he has been, he would desire to go on the retired list as soon as he had completed his mission in the Far East.

Egg Prices Drop.

New York, March 23.—Fresh eggs are retailing, in New York, at thirty cents a dozen, today, for the first time since 1912. A record sale of eggs for Easter is predicted.

RUSSIA IS FORCED TO CHANGE POSITION

Washington, March 23—Press reports that the Lenine-Trotzky government in Russia has been forced to modify materially the application of some of its communistic principles, have been confirmed, the state department announced today, by official despatches received from its agents.

MAKES DENIAL OF OBLIGATION

Germany Puts Own Value on Shipping Surrendered.

REFUSES TO MEET ALLIED DEMANDS

Germans Will Pay Nothing More at Present.

France Will Demand Further Drastic Measures To Compel German Obedience—A Bitter Controversy Waging.

Paris, March 23.—The new situation created by the allies' indemnity demands on Germany and Germany's claims for all Upper Silesia, probably will result in an early conference of the interallied supreme council at which France will demand final drastic measures to compel German obedience, it was reliably learned today. The allied reparations commission held a meeting to consider the German note rejecting the allies' ultimatum that Germany pay 1,000,000,000 gold marks immediately.

Germany not only refused to pay the 1,000,000,000 gold marks, but contended that the allies were wrong in their contention that Germany owes any of the 20,000,000 gold marks due from her before May 1, under the terms of the treaty of Versailles.

It is understood that the reparations commission will confer with the various allied governments before there is a decisive decision, but there are persistent reports that further sanctions will be authorized, including seizure of the coal mines in the Ruhr district and of German industries.

The German embassy in Paris is most insistent that Germany will not pay another cent of indemnity until the differences over the amount already paid by Berlin has been cleared up. The German government claims that more than 20,000,000,000 gold marks have been paid. The claim is made that Germany has paid about 8,000,000,000 gold marks and still owes approximately 12,000,000,000 gold marks.

The Germans claim that the surrendered German tonnage should be charged off on the books at the rate of seventy-two francs, which was the value at the time the ships were surrendered.

Final Return.

Berlin, March 23.—The final returns from the Upper Silesian plebiscite were announced by the foreign office, today, as follows: For Germany, 716,406; for Poland, 471,405. Several communities in the coal mining district gave the Poles a majority, but Germany is making claim for the whole of Upper Silesia and is protesting against partition of the province.

AMERICA TAKES HAND IN CASE

Washington, March 23.—Representation has been made by the United States to Germany for release of Carl Neaf and Fred Zimmer, two Americans who were arrested and convicted by German authorities for thier attempts to kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the Philadelphia draft dodger.

DEATH LIST IN IRELAND GROWS

Nearly Three Score Killed in Three Days.

SEVERAL SOLDIERS AMONG THE DEAD

Eighteen Civilians Killed During Sinn Fein Clashes.

Two Brothers Are Executed as Spies by Sinn Fein—A Bloody Ambuscade Is Reported in Dublin Last Night.

Dublin, March 23.—Nearly three score persons have been killed in Ireland in the past seventy-two hours and the death list is mounting more rapidly than at any other time since fighting became severe.

Since Sunday, twenty-one soldiers, nine policemen and ten republicans have been killed. In addition, eighteen others who had no direct connection with either the crown forces or the Sinn Fein, met death.

More than 100 persons were wounded.

Among the wounded were a woman and a child who were struck by stray bullets during an ambuscade of crown forces in this city, at 9 o'clock last night. Both were said to be dying this morning.

Two brothers, named Skelton, were found dead in a field near Enniscorthy. Both had been shot through the head. The arms were bound and upon the breast of each was a card, reading:

"A convicted spy."

The men had evidently been members of the republican army, but had been convicted by a Sinn Fein court-martial of giving information to the British military and police authorities.

Eight Killed.

Cork, March 23.—Eight civilians were reported killed and twenty wounded in a desperate battle between republicans and crown forces, near Dingle, today.

Eleven military policemen were ambushed by the republicans and violent fighting followed.

Six Civilians.

London, March 23.—Six civilians were killed in a fight between Irish republicans and crown forces at Blarney, according to Central News despatch from Dublin, this afternoon. The Central News correspondent said that fighting had broken out while the crown forces were searching for hidden arms. They were attacked and returned the fire of the civilians with deadly accuracy.

Stock Market.

New York, March 23.—Gains of from fractions to two points were made in the stock market, today, on an active demand. Greatest activity was centered in the specialties.

A NEW TRIPLE ASSOCIATION

France Would Have Three Powers Get Together.

COOPERATION FOR GOOD OF THE WORLD

Purpose of Mission of Viviani in America.

Former Member of French Cabinet Thinks America Will Not Enter a Military Pact, but Will Work for Peace.

Paris, March 23.—The cornerstone of a new triple "association of nations"—the United States, England and France—may be laid at Washington by former Premier Viviani, now enroute to America on a special mission to see President Harding. M. Viviani is due to reach New York, Sunday.

The view of a possible new "society of powers" was set forth, today, by Henry Franklin-Bouillon, former member of the French cabinet and until recently chairman of the foreign-affairs committee of the chamber of deputies. Franklin-Bouillon feels that under no circumstances will the United States enter the league of nations, or link herself in military alliance with her two big allies in the recent war. But he does believe that the three powers can cooperate effectively to maintain the peace of the world.

"Sending M. Viviani to the United States on such a special mission may contribute to modify America's attitude toward Europe," said M. Franklin-Bouillon.

"Let us hope so, but let us realize that this task is a hard one. The evil done by the treaty of Versailles is so profound that it is difficult to see how it can be repaired.

"The system adopted at Versailles reposed on the league of nations and on the French-Anglo-American pact. From the financial point of view, the league of nations does not exist. No measure providing for interallied aid has ever been studied. No credit has been opened or even promised for the resumption of our economic activity."

Political View.

"From the political point of view, the league of nations should guarantee to the signatories of the covenant the frontiers fixed by the treaty of Versailles. But one does not even dare speak of this stipulation. In any case, the triple-defensive alliance proposed during the peace conference has no real value, unless America and England formally subscribe to it.

"Now that the work of Versailles is definitely abandoned in America, we must return to reality and reason. It is useless to count upon an alliance; let us try to organize cooperation. Between the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon family, representing the United States and England, France, should be the uniting link.

"There is the task to which our statesmen should set themselves at work if they wish to repair the dangers of yesterday and avoid the dangers of tomorrow. I hope that the voyage of M. Viviani will be the first evidence of this new policy which the treaty of Versailles, under the pretext of hastening, only delayed."

WEATHER BUREAU REPORTS HEAVY FROST

Likely Early Bloom on Fruit Trees Is Damaged.

Columbus, March 23—A "killing" frost was general throughout this section during the night, according to information available at the local federal weather bureau, today. Professor Wendell Paddock, department of horticulture, Ohio State university, said the frost was sufficient to "nip" the early bloom on fruit trees.

According to Professor Paddock, blooming fruit trees reported in adjoining counties were probably damaged considerably.

The mercury fell to twenty-six degrees during the night.

For Child Relief.

Rome, March 23.—Pope Benedict, XV, has received nearly 5,000,000 lire—approximately $1,500,000—for relief of the child war sufferers of Europe, with the United States leading in the list of contributors, it was semi-officially announced today. The pope's appeal for the juvenile war sufferers was sent out from the Vatican some time ago and the response was instantaneous, it was said.

IS EXPELLED FROM LEGION

Lieutenant Colonel Anderson Is Court-Martialed.

"HORROR OF THE RHINE" UTTERANCES THE CAUSE

Anderson Thrown Out of American Legion Because of Talk at Recent Demonstration.

New York, March 23.—Lieutenant Colonel Alexander E. Anderson, who won high honors in the World war, ceased to be a member of the American legion today. He was expelled because of utterances in his speech at the "Horror on the Rhine" mass-meeting at Madison Square garden a few weeks ago. Lieutenant Colonel Anderson was tried by officials of the American legion sitting as a court-martial, but was not present. He was a member of the old Sixty-Ninth New York regiment, rising from the ranks to the second highest office of the unit.

The meeting at which Lieutenant Colonel Anderson spoke was arranged to protest against the use of negro troops on the Rhine by the French. Lieutenant Colonel Anderson, in the course of his remarks, is reported, to have said:

"I will call the attention of those particular people to the words of our president at the time of his dragging us into the war."

FIVE PRISONERS GET AWAY FROM WORKHOUSE

Columbus Police Searching for the Fugitives.

Columbus, March 23.—Police, today, are searching for five prisoners who escaped from the workhouse. Unscrewing the bolts on the sliding bar which locked the cells in which they were confined, the quintet of prisoners got into the corridor where they sawed a bar in a window and fastened a blanket to other bars, letting themselves down to the end of the blanket, and dropping about fifteen feet to the ground.

The escaped men, all received February 28, are: Guy Pinkham, twenty-seven, Athens, and Sherman Silby, thirty-six, also of Athens, both convicted of illegally transporting liquor; Walter Frazier, twenty-three, Gloucester, and Joseph W. Kuhn, thirty-one, Nelsonville, both convicted of non-support, and Ray Harvey, twenty-two, colored, no residence, a vagrant.

GREAT BRITAIN SAYS NOTHING

Remains Silent Regarding the Claims of America.

AN INVESTIGATION IS BEING MADE

By Members of Committee on Foreign Relations.

Senators Are Looking After Money Due Through Seizures of Goods During the World War, According to Wire.

Washington, March 23.—Great Britain's persistent silence regarding claims growing out of her seizure of American vessels, goods and mails and of her interference with American trade, both before and after the entry of the United States into the World war, is being quietly investigated by Republican members of the senate foreign-relations committee, it was disclosed today.

The whole subject probably will be opened up in the senate at the earliest opportunity. A mass of papers bearing upon it are now in the committee's possession, having been furnished by former Secretary of State Colby on the eve of his retirement from office, in response to a senate resolution sponsored by Senator Lodge, Republican, of Massachusetts, the committee's chairman, which called upon the state department for full information respecting American claims against the British government.

An examination of these papers just completed by Senator Lodge, revealed that though Colby had officially inquired of the British government as long as August 13, of last year, as to what it proposed to do with respect to the adjustment of American claims, no final reply had ever been received by him. It is indicated that though most of the claims had been outstanding since before the American declaration of war against Germany, efforts of the state department to effect a settlement of them had proven unavailing. In a communication addressed to Senator Lodge under date of March 3, and made public today, Mr. Colby stated:

Are Not Pressed.

"For obvious reasons, American claims for compensation were not pressed against the British government during the war. In a communication, dated August 13, 1920, inquiry was made if the British government were prepared to enter into an arrangement for a reciprocal adjustment of claims growing out of acts of American and British authorities incident to the war. No final reply has been received from the British government to that communication.

Attached to Colby's communication, were copies of the voluminous correspondence exchanged by the state department with the British foreign office in a vain effort, during and after American participation in the World war, to obtain from the British government some final decision regarding American claims.

Included in the papers was a cabled protest sent by Colby's predecessor, former Secretary of State Lansing, to the American ambassador at London, December 12, 1917, in which it was stated that "it seems possible that a material portion of the hours of labor will be adjusted to a weekly minimum based on the eight-hour principle, to conform to the conditions prevailing in the packing houses, while the packers in turn have agreed to an extension of the Aleshuler agreement for submission between the packers and their employes, to permanent mediation.

It was the abrogation of this agreement, several days ago, by the big packers, which brought about the present dispute, which threatened to become so serious that President Harding was prompted to offer the good offices of the labor department in securing an amicable adjustment.

The conference between Secretary Davis and the representatives of the employes ended shortly after 1 o'clock. The employes' representatives would not say whether they would return for a further conference.

Secretary Davis will meet the counsel for the employers later this afternoon.

CHIEF JUSTICE WHITE MAY SOON RESIGN

According to rumors in official circles in Washington Chief Justice White, of the United States supreme court, will soon resign because of failing eyesight and Secretary of State Hughes will probably have his long cherished ambition gratified of becoming chief justice of the highest court in the country. In event of Secretary Hughes being appointed to succeed Chief Justice White, the reports say, Secretary of the Interior Fall will be made secretary of state.

AN ADJUSTMENT OF DIFFICULTY

Believed Packers and Employes Will Get Together.

SHORT CONFERENCE HELD THIS MORNING

Both Sides to Controversy Are Making Concessions for Common Good.

Washington, March 23.—Adjustment of the differences between the packers and their employes, which threatened to tie up one of the "key" industries of the country, is believed to be near.

Secretary of Labor Davis met, this morning, with Dennis Lane and Redmond S. Brennan, representing the employes. This conference, it is believed, is for the purpose of ironing out a few disputed points in the general understanding which has been reached through the mediation of Secretary Davis, Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Secretary Wallace, under which the employes will accept a wage reduction and of the hours of labor will be adjusted to a weekly minimum based on the eight-hour principle, to conform to the conditions prevailing in the packing houses, while the packers in turn have agreed to an extension of the Aleshuler agreement for submission between the packers and their employes, to permanent mediation.

It was the abrogation of this agreement, several days ago, by the big packers, which brought about the present dispute, which threatened to become so serious that President Harding was prompted to offer the good offices of the labor department in securing an amicable adjustment.

The conference between Secretary Davis and the representatives of the employes ended shortly after 1 o'clock. The employes' representatives would not say whether they would return for a further conference.

Secretary Davis will meet the counsel for the employers later this afternoon.

The American detectives were charged with unlawful shooting and felonious assault.

During the taking of testimony, Tuesday, Bergdoll, the millionaire draft dodger, was a witness and told of the efforts of the detectives to kidnap him.

CLOSED SHOP DENOUNCED

Atterbury Stands for Freedom of Employes.

SAYS PENNSYLVANIA HAS A SPY SYSTEM

Vice President of Pennsylvania Maintains Right of Minority to Voice in Matters.

Chicago, March 23.—Charges that the Pennsylvania railroad was fighting for the open shop and that the road maintained a spy system before the war, were the subjects of a heated all-day discussion before the United States railroad labor board.

Brigadier General W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania, charged the unions with attempting to force the closed shop, and Frank P. Walsh, labor attorney, retaliated with declarations that the Pennsylvania had maintained spies and arsenals to take care of labor board troubles.

The testimony revolved about General Atterbury's stand that he could negotiate agreements with his own employes, but that no just and reasonable agreements applicable to the entire country could be written by anybody. He also maintained the right of the minority to a voice and charged the unions with assuming to represent all employes and using coercion in attempting to make them join the union.

Walsh opened his charges of a spy system on the Pennsylvania with a statement that $800,000 had been spent in 1914 on the road's police system. Atterbury explained that this amount covered all protective measures, such as crossing switchmen and similar employes. Under questioning, however, he admitted that the road did maintain a spy system, but declared he could not say how much had been spent on that department.

Walsh explained that the rule of discrimination against any employe because of union affiliation was the "most important rule there is." These questions were intended to show that a "situation might arise and had arisen on the Pennsylvania, where disputes between employes and the road could not be settled, despite Atterbury's statement that all the men on the road had grown up together."

A closed shop, either union or non-union, was denounced by Atterbury, who said a worker should have the right to be or not to be a union man.

Some Statistics.

Chicago, March 23.—Statistics to prove that railroads in this country lost more than $300,000,000 a year through the "waste and inefficiency" of wartime agreements, were brought before the United States labor board, today, by General W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

He produced the statistics when Frank P. Walsh, for the employes, demanded to know upon what he based the amount of $300,000,000.

"As a matter of fact," replied General Atterbury, "I grossly understated the situation."

He declared that the interstate commerce commission and the bureau of economics had begun by underestimating the total payroll of the railroads by $200,000,00. It should have been $4,000,000,000, instead of $3,809,000,000, General Atterbury told the board.

General Atterbury pointed out that when the agreement went into effect, in 1917, the employes involved numbered 1,206,520 and that this number had increased to 1,426,488. The total earnings of the men, for 1917, he said, was $1,010,596,751, making an average of $837.61 per man. In 1920, the total earnings, he said, were $2,414,748,841, or $1,701 20 per man. Meanwhile, the increase in "ton miles," had gone to 4.4 per cent, in 1920, over 1917.

Another sensation of the day was a letter from L. W. Geer, general manager for the St. Louis division of the Pennsylvania, denying entirely the authorship of a letter signed with his name and purporting to instruct supervising employes to use "defamatory methods" against union officials. The letter had previously been laid before the board

CLEWS FOUND IN A MURDER CASE

Five Books and Two Overcoats Are Discovered.

BOOKS BELONG TO MURDERED TEACHERS

Overcoats Left with Books in a Barn by Murderers—Search Is Renewed.

Cleveland, March 23.—Discovery of five books, one of them the property of Miss Mabel Foote, may lead to the arrest of the murderer of two Parma high school teachers, February 17, officials believed today. Finger prints found on the volume are the clew by which it is hoped to establish the identity of the perpetrators of one of the most brutal crimes in the history of Cuyahoga county.

The books were found some time ago, hidden in a barn on a farm on Royalton road. With them were two overcoats. They were discovered by Edward Bogacki, son of the tenant and it was not until yesterday that the finding of a name of one of the murder victims inscribed on the fly leaf led to the belief that they might have been placed there by the murderer.

The present tenant, Louis Bogacki, moved to the farm March 7, with his family. Prior to that time the place had been unoccupied since January.

Stains that may have been caused by blood smear some of the leaves.

Following the discovery, officials of Parma and residents are making redoubled efforts to run down the slayer. A demand was made, today, that the finger prints of every adult male resident of Parma township be taken for comparison with those found in the books.

A LIQUIDATION BODY IS ASKED

To Salvage All Possible War Assets.

CONGRESS WILL BE URGED TO ACTION

President Harding Finds a Salvage Bureau Necessary—Foreign Relations Discussed.

Washington, March 23.—Congress will be asked to pass legislation creating a war liquidation agency soon after it is convened April 11.

Announcement to that effect was made by President Harding yesterday, at the conclusion of his cabinet meeting at which after-the-war problems were discussed.

Literally hundreds of millions of dollars invested to meet the needs of the nation in war time will have to be written off, the executive explained, but some means must be provided for salvaging as much as possible the available assets.

Discussion of America's foreign relations consumed two hours of the session. Secretary of State Hughes gave a survey of this nation's relations with all others.

Restored relationships, trade conditions and various other phases of international intercourse were taken up, it was explained when the meeting ended.

Discusses German Situation.

The situation in Germany, due to the advance of the allied forces, and other conditions in Europe were discussed incidentally, but it was stated they figured only as part of the general presentation. The league of nations was not discussed in detail. No recommendations were made, Mr. Hughes' survey being wholly informative.

Other matters laid before the cabinet at its meeting were:

1. A confidential report by Secretary of Labor Davis that differences between packing house employes and their employers over a proposed reduction in wages, will be settled without resort to strike. He has been conferring with both sides of the controversy during the last forty-eight hours.

2—A report by Postmaster General Hays that congestion in big city postoffices is due to a widespread business practice of waiting until the business day is over before depositing the correspondence in the mails.

3—The legislative program as agreed upon by the senate committee on finance and the house ways and means committee yesterday. While the president did not say today that he approved the outline of work congress has made for itself, he did express confidence that a satisfactory program will be arranged.

In commenting on the need of a war liquidation agency to dispose of after-the-war problems as advantageously as possible to the government, President Harding called attention to the presence in his office of Senator Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, chairman of the senate commerce committee, who has been called to the White House by the president to discuss the legislation needed.

The president stated that Senator Jones held in his hand papers relating to a shipyard problem at Bristol, Pennsylvania, typical of many others demanding intelligent and immediate consideration.

The lease on that plant will expire, Monday and the government will expire, Monday and the government must either purchase the site for $1,300,000 or abandon it and salvage the equipment installed.

During the war, the government invested $25,000,000 there, but the salvage value now, if the government turns back the plant to its original owners, probably will not exceed $1,000,000.

The question which must be determinated immediately is whether the government shall invest a large additional sum there on a plant which is not being operated now, having in mind the idea that it may be sold to better advantages later, or whether it shall submit to a $24,000,000 loss on a $25,000,000 investment.

There are many problems of that sort to be handled by the proposed war liquidation commission.

President Harding explained that Postmaster General Hays has started to improve the postal service by reforming practice of the government itself. In Washington, so Mr. Hays showed his cabinet colleagues, seventy-six per cent. of the mail deposited is government business, and nearly all of that is turned into the postoffice between 4 and 7 p. m. He asked the other cabinet officers to change the present practice.

Of 700,000 letters and postal cards mailed here daily only 100,000 are mailed between 8 a. m. and 4 p. m. Much the same condition exists in other large city offices throughout the nation, Mr Hays said.

Getting Orders Placed.

At a meeting Tuesday afternoon, members of the furnishing committee of the Marion Country club determined upon the type of furnishings for the club-house and are now getting their orders placed. It is expected to have the club-house furnished by the middle or last of May.

MUTINY ON HIGH SEAS CHARGED

Five Seamen Are in Jail in New Orleans.

SUSPECTED OF PART IN A BOMB PLOT

Men May Be Taken to New York for an Investigation—Are Desperate Characters.

New Orleans, March 23.—Charged specifically with mutiny on the high seas, five men are in jail here. Shackled hand and foot, the men were taken from the steamer Rushville, hustled to the parish prison and booked under the following names: Philip Benden, Lionel Kuebreeruff, Rudolph Dorsh, Hans Randin and Henrik Lipan. They were then held incommunicado.

Captain J. H. B. Van Weeldern of the Rushville related the manner in which the men were captured and the difficulties encountered in moving from Rio de Janeiro to New Orleans. Department of justice officials intimated the men might be wanted in New York in connection with the investigation of the Wall street bomb plot of last Sept. 16.

Late last month, according to Captain Van Weeldern, the United States shipping board steamship City of Alton, then nearing Rio de Janeiro, received a wireless message, presumably from officials of the United States government, requesting the arrest of the five men. A fight started and, according to Captain Van Weeldern, it was with extreme difficulty that the men were subdued, placed in irons and taken to Rio de Janeiro, where they were imprisoned.

The American vice consul at Rio de Janeiro, according to Captain Van Weeldern, requested the Munson line steamer Yero to take the quintet to New York, where it was said they were "wanted." Still heavily guarded, the men were placed aboard the Yero and in some manner, according to the Rushville captain, started a furious fight. The Yero master speedily returned them to the Rio de Janeiro jail.

About that time the Rushville came in to load coffee for New Orleans and Vice Consul Thomas managed to persuade Captain Van Weeldern to attempt transportation of the prisoners. "We accepted and here they are," the skipper concluded.

No evidence connecting the men with the bomb plot has yet been uncovered, according to department of justice officials.

THREE MEN KILLED AND THREE INJURED

Result of Collapse of Steel Furnace at Harrisburg.

Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, March 23.—Three men were killed and three seriously burned when a furnace at the Steelton plant of the Bethlehem Steel corporation collapsed today. The men were buried under huge masses of hot brick and heated metal. Their bodies were so badly burned that identification was almost impossible. One man is still missing. The dead are: Joseph Dolinar, William Telier and William Banks.

The cause of the collapse is unknown. There was no explosion and but little report. The brick work of the furnace crumbled, allowing a huge mass of heated iron to be scattered about the mill. The dead and injured were caught under the falling mass before they were aware of their danger.

Cornelius Ragan, a foreman, is still missing.

PROCLAMATION FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS

Washington, March 23.—President Harding was today asked to proclaim the week of May 23 as disabled soldiers' week.

A delegation of fifteen disabled soldiers called upon the president, cited the need for further aid for disabled soldiers and better hospital facilities and asked that the president set aside a week when the people of the nation may use their efforts in improving conditions for the men disabled in the World war.

The delegation was headed by George H. Gibb, of New York, James W. Mellin, of Indianapolis, and John T. Nolan, of Boston.

DISARMAMENT IS DESIRABLE

Doubtful If United States Should Take Lead.

PRESIDENT TALKS TO SOCIETY OF FRIENDS

Delegation Calls at the White House To Ask President To Lead Disarmament Move.

Washington, March 23.—President Harding is in favor of disarmament measures, but is not ready to decide that the United States shall take the initiative by lessening its armaments, he today told a delegation from the Society of Friends of Philadelphia, which called upon him to urge that he take steps to lead the world in disarmament.

The delegation was headed by George M. Warner. William B. Harvey and members stated that the president received their plea sympathetically and stated he would be glad if this nation could lead in disarmament, but said he was not ready to commit himself to a disarmament plan yet.

The president stated that he now believes that this government can not afford to be ten ships behind any other government in naval strength.

Is Reappointed.

Washington, March 23.—President Harding has reappointed Obadiah Gardner, of Maine, as chairman of the international joint commission on Canadia boundaries, the White House announced today. Garder's resignation was asked by former President Wilson, in order that William B. Wilson might be given the place. Wilson resigned last week.

The White House also announced the appointment of Harry Fiddler, of Indiana, as the representative of labor on the federal board for vocational education.

MANY MEASURES GIVEN ATTENTION

House Taxation Committee Behind a New Amendment to Ohio Constitution.

Columbus, March 23.—The house taxation committee today is expected to introduce a resolution proposing adoption at the November election of an amendment to the state constitution abolishing the uniform rule of taxation, but seeking to prevent classification of property, as commonly interpreted. The resolution, it is said, would be in line with the recommendations made by Governor Davis' recent citizens' committee.

For the second time within a few days, the house defeated the bill by Representative Robinson, Lawrence county, providing for seizure by tax officials of part of the property not returned for taxation. The bill, when defeated last week, provided for a fifty-per-cent. confiscation. When it reached another vote on the question of reconsideration, the percentage of confiscation was cut in two. The bill failed, however, to receive a constitutional majority, sixty-three, the vote being fifty-nine to forty-seven. The vote last week was fifty-four to fifty-four.

The Wenner Bill.

The house passed the Wenner bill, amending the workmen's compensatio act so as to provide compensation for workers afflicted with occupational diseases. The bill will now go to the senate.

Having passed the house, the Dunn bill, providing for carrying of Americanization work, will go to the senate.

The senate passed the Kryder ice-cream standardization bills after accepting an amendment by Senator Dewese, Miami county, reducing the butterfat requirement to eight, from twelve, per cent. The bill will go to the house.

The Brand bill, seeking to standardize bread loaves, passed the senate. It fixes the weights of loaves at sixteen, or twenty-four, ounces, or multiples of a pound, twelve hours after baking and requires that the weight be printed on the wrapper, or stamped on the bread. The bill will go to the house.

The McCoy bill, prohibiting persons from registering at hotels under fictitious names, will go to the house after passing the senate.

Wants Wife's Petition Dismissed

The answer of the defendant was filed in the common pleas court Tuesday afternoon in the divorce suit of Nella E Young against Francis G. Young. The answer was filed through H. E. Hall.

Admission is made of the charge that the defendant is paying the Marion County Humane society $40 a month toward the support of the minor children, but enters a general denial of the other allegations. The defendant charges the plaintiff abandoned him without cause and on her refusal to return he gave her all of the household goods and continued payment of the money to the Humane society. He also denies that he has been cruel or abusive, states that for years he has given her his pay envelope every month and asks that the petition be dismissed.

SAFER TO WORK IN MILLS THAN TO WALK STREETS

Says Carnegie Steel Company Safety-First Expert

WHO ADDRESSES CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TODAY

John A. Oartel, of Pittsburgh, Declares America Is Waster of Human Life.

More people will be killed this year in accidents outside of industry than were killed last year for the reason that the public has not been sufficiently educated in accident prevention according to John A Oartel, of Pittsburgh, director of safety and connected with the welfare of the Carnegie Steel company, in an address at the weekly noon luncheon of the chamber of commerce.

"America is a waster of not only natural resources, but of human life," Mr Oartel said "Twelve years ago we began safety work in the steel mills and we have progressed to a point where the steel mill or the manufacturing plant is not the dangerous place to work."

Gospel of Safety.

Mr Oartel quoted figures to show that most deaths due to accidents result from injuries received on the streets highways or in the homes." "When we mean safety we mean safety in the streets of the towns and cities on the highways and in the homes and it is that gospel that we of the National Safety council are trying to preach."

"It is safer to work in the mills or manufacturing establishment than it is to walk along the streets or drive on the public highways The automobile causes the largest number of accidents outside of industry and these accidents are caused by careless pedestrians as well as careless drivers

Mr Oartel told of the work of the National Safety council in educating people to follow safe practices and teaching safety in the public schools.

It was announced that Mrs J Frank Smith, of Columbus, will be in Mar on Sunday, April 3, and arrangements will be made for her to address the chamber of commerce on Americanization

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Epworth M. E. Revival.

The greatest movie men in the city is Dr George Hurb Birney, who is preaching to crowds that nit Epworth M. E. church every night. Last night was another victory night. Dr. Birney, in his sermon on "The Marks of Heaven and Hell," clearly forcefully and scripturally showed that every one in the church, in Marion and in the world, was either on one side or the other, "bearing the mark of Jesus or Satan." "There is no neutrality. You either bear the marks of the blood religion of Christ or the no blood religion of the devil," said Dr Birney.

After the sermon ten persons responded to the tender appeal and went forward to the alls

During an inspiring song service led by H. J. Bronzer, Rex Robinson sympathetically sang "It Was for Me He Savior Died."

Dr. Birney will preach tonight on "The Suicide of the Soul."

"Sunday-School" Night.

Last night was "Sunday-School" night at the revival at Trinity Baptist church, Rev. George M. Landis giving an object lesson. He used a locked heart as the object. He said:

"The heart of man can not be unlocked by the key of good resolutions, because most of us fail to carry out our good intentions. Good works alone will not save us or unlock the door, for the Master tells us that not because of righteousness, but accordig to his mercy we are saved." Education is all right, but will not let Jesus Christ into your heart. Something more than wisdom is required. Religion is not the key, for Nicodemus was a religious man, but the Lord required more than mere religion of him. Prayer alone can not unlock our hearts. We all know prayer is a good thing, but it can not save us. Sorrow is not the key, although it is good to be sorry for our sins, but faith is the key that will and does unlock our hearts, for we are told that by grace we are saved, through faith and forsaking all, we take Him as our Savior."

Rev E. H. Lane, pastor of Olive Place Baptist church, Toledo, and a traveling Gideon, sang two solos.

Tonight at 7.30 o'clock Rev. Landis' subject will be "Can We Be Sure of Salvation?"

Special Service Tonight.

There will be a special continuation revival service at Calvary church tonight at 7.30 o'clock. The pastor will preach on the theme, "Entire Sanctification."

Next Sunday, Easter morning, there will be an early sunrise prayer meeting at 6 o'clock. At the special Easter services in the morning at 10:30 o'clock there will be reception of members into the fellowship of the church.

Baptismal services will follow in one week from Sunday, April 3.

Fite Memorial Church.

The Passion week revival services at Fite Memorial church continue to draw interesting congregations. Last night the pastor, Rev. F. E. Hawes preached on "Betraying Christ." Tonight the subject will be "Gethsemane." These services are for the general public, but all members are specially urged to attend.

Plans are almost completed for the annual homecoming and reception for new members, to be held Easter Sunday. This service will begin at 9 a. m. and continue throughout the day. A basket dinner will be served in the church basement.

St. Paul's Episcopal.

Rev. Father Joseph will conclude his services at St. Paul's Episcopal church Thursday with meditation at 9:30 o'clock. He will leave for Cleveland at 12:45 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and will preach at St. James church there tomorrow night and conduct the three-hour service Good Friday.

Following the meditation tomorrow morning at St. Paul's church there will be an all-day service of devotion before the blessed sacrament, it being Maundy Thursday, which is the day the church celebrates the birthday of the blessed sacrament.

The members of the congregation are taking fifteen-minute intervals in prayer before the blessed sacrament for the entire day. The services will be concluded at 4:15 p. m., with the singing of devotion.

The three-hour service will be held on Good Friday with preaching on the seven last words of Christ, from 12 to 3 p. m.

Calvary Willing Workers.

The Willing Workers' class, of the Calvary Evangelical church, met last evening at the home of Miss Daisy Lewis, of Mt. Vernon avenue with a good attendance. After the business session, refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed.

The first-rank team of Marion Lodge, No. 402, Knights of Pythias, gave a dance in the lodge hall, Tuesday night. There were over seventy couples in attendance, the music being furnished by Wilson's orchestra.

MARION COUNTY FARMERS FAVOR A CASH DONATION

Instead of Corn to Europe's Starving Waifs.

Marion county farmers, through their committee named to consider the request for donations of corn for the relief of Europe's starving children, favor a cash donation instead of grain and have made arrangements to receive funds until April 10.

Members of the committee held a meeting in the office of the Marion County Farm bureau Tuesday night and their views were embodied in a list of four suggestions, which read:

"1. Because Marion county farmers usually buy, rather than sell corn, a cash donation is favored. This donation will be used to buy Ohio corn that is properly dried and prepared for shipment, under the direction of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation.

"2. If any members prefer to donate corn it is suggested that it be sold at the current price and its value given.

"3. Donations will be received until April 10, 1921, by Miss Mildred Rinker, assistant secretary, at the Farm Bureau office.

"4. The Marion County Farm bureau executive committee will give the same consideration to all donations and see that all funds are properly expended."

Members of the committee are M. M. Boger, Walter Williams and Herbert Davis. It had been requested that the farmers donate 50,000 bushels of corn for this relief work. No donations of either money or grain have been received to date.

THE HUB OF COMMERCE.

Daily Proverb—"Do not learn to do that from which there is no advantage."

So the Russian soviet nightmare is ended and the rank failure of the soviet plan is confessed.

And then again, it is always possible that Mr. Lenine's conversion may be wholly for what he hopes to get as a result of it.

Did you ever see so many robins? They are almost as numerous as silk shirts in war times.

Lenine says he fears that he is becoming respectable, but a lot of people will rather take to the view that he is unduly scared.

What was former Attorney General Palmer trying to do with that beer ruling anyway, put half the people on the sick list?

"Coffee," says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, "has dropped to the lowest price since 1908," which goes to show, once more, that you have to go away from home to get the news.

True, Miss Spring appeared a trifle chilly yesterday, but give her time. One so fair can hardly long remain ungracious.

The more light thrown on the league and the manner in which it was shaped, the greater is Uncle Sam's thankfulness that he refused to be scared into joining it.

The peace treaty and the league-of-nations covenant, it now appears, were cut out of the same old-style diplomatic cloth.

Mexico has put up the bars against immigration. We wondered if the flight of the slackers into Mexico wouldn't be reflected by some such legislation, sooner or later.

"Banks Broken While You Wait" might well have been used as a sign by the Non-Partisan league up in North Dakota.

THE TEST APPROACHES.

Evidences are rapidly multiplying that the Cummins-Esch transportation act is to be subjected to crucial tests in the very near future. That the act will live up to the standard predicated for it by President Harding during the campaign of 1920 is confidently predicted. If, perchance, any impasse should arise out of a controversy between the two parties, the railroads and the brotherhoods, which might develop into a national calamity, it will not be the fault of the law, but of the obstinacy of one or the other, or both, of the contending interests; and since the primary purpose of the law is to protect the public there will be ample justification for the government itself to avert such calamity by taking such measures as the premises may warrant.

At the outset, it would appear that the two parties are approaching the dispute concerning wage reductions and economies in a spirit which harmonizes with the law and which augurs well for the outcome. The directors of the Pennsylvania railroad, for example, in their resolution declare that "all procedure in effecting such readjustments of salaries and wages shall be taken in an orderly manner and in strict accordance with the transportation act," while the president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, says: "I take it that the Pennsylvania proposes to proceed with negotiations as prescribed by the transportation act." That means that if no agreement is reached in the conferences between the management and the employes the latter may appeal to the railway labor board. That means long-drawn-out hearings. But, better exhaustive hearings than summary action terminating in serious consequences. If there is any pessimism entertained in the public mind large it grows out of the Gompers attitude of February 24 declaring the intention of the federation to resist the laws as declared by the courts, and to refuse to recognize injunctions in short to substitute the will of labor for the rule of law. But Mr. Gompers is not the spokesman for the railroad brotherhoods.

The president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks is quoted as stating that "we have information that makes us believe that every road in the country that is in financial straits will reduce wages in disregard of the railroad labor board. Hence, if there is to be peace in the railroad industry  something in the nature of teeth must be put into the act to coerce the roads." It is the general impression that when the Esch-Cummins act was in debate it was the employes' side which wanted either "one-way" teeth, or none at all, and the direction in which they wanted them to bite is indicated by this president's statement. If he is in possession of the information which he describes, he should refer it to the board speedily, and the teeth which were knocked out by compromise when the act was under fire may be supplied by some other governmental agency if the decisions of the board are flouted.

It is but platitudinous to state that changed economic conditions since 1918 demand changed salaries and operating expenses, and eventually cheaper deliveries, for the public must profit in the return to normalcy or ultimately no one will. It is encouraging to note, therefore, the apparent disposition of management and employes, however jealous of their respective interests, to discuss the pending questions in a frank, cool-headed, and orderly manner.

Of course, there may be exceptions, but the average reformer will gladly quit his job for one paying more and offering less likelihood of having something attached resembling work.

In other words, Lenine confesses that, though he made fools of the Russians, it's impossible for him to make fools of the whole world.

We rather glean from Admiral Fiske's utterances that he is not precisely what might be termed an ardent admirer of former Secretary Daniels.

When the soda fountain "medicinal" beer is placed on tap, will a physician be at hand at all times to write prescriptions for emergency cases?

A Professor Gerould, of Princeton, is lamenting loudly over the decay of proof-reading. Doubtless the professor's memory goes back to a time when the average proof-reader read proofs to catch the errors they contained.

NOT PATRIOTIC BANKING.

Sound finances and operations of the banking business are not matters which are familiar to the average citizen, but there are some things connected with financial transactions which he is perfectly capable of understanding.

A report from New York City says that a number of prominent American banks have decided to advance money to sugar producers in Cuba in order that they may hold back the crop and compel an increase in price. The effect will be to defeat the operations of the law of supply and demand and exact excessive prices from consumers. When sugar sold last year at thirty cents a pound and more, consumers paid the price under protest, for they were practically all convinced that manipulation somewhere was responsible for the high price.

The average American citizen may not be very well posted on matters of finance, but he does not need to take much knowledge of such transaction to be convinced that the proposed action of American bankers is not in the interest of the American people, that American money is to be put up to exact higher prices for sugar from American consumers.

Back in the United States closed to legitimate purchasers unable even to hold their crops for higher prices, and there was much talk about the unpatriotic conduct in using the public's money to force it to pay higher prices. What makes such a deal for American farmers they have no part in, for Cuban planters. Perhaps the bankers will get a good rate of interest, which might be considered a return for breaking a principle to which the name of Lincoln is only a few months ago

RESPONSIBILITY.

Does the average citizen ever think of his individual responsibility in cases of crime?

The person who countenances crime or condones crime is, in a measure, at least, guilty of crime.

The person who excuses wrong-doing is more or less of a wrong-doer himself.

The person who winks at law violation is a law violator, in a way, at any rate.

He who shields criminals is doing a criminal act.

He who incites mob violence is guilty of mob violence.

He who prompts murder should be punished for murder.

He who receives and conceals stolen goods should be dealt with as a thief.

We have the Volstead law today—the national prohibition act.

It is not wholly popular.

But no matter; it is an integral part of the law of the land.

Some other laws are not popular; but they should be obeyed—we expect them to be obeyed.

So we have a right to expect the Volstead law to be obeyed and respected.

This is a government of majority rule; and the legally constituted majority have approved the Volstead law.

Therefore, it should stand, and be respected and obeyed, until the majority sees fit to amend or repeal it.

But what do we see?

We see the law violated and dodged in many ways; and those—many of them, anyhow—who do not violate or dodge the law themselves, wink at the violations and subterfuges practiced by others.

Safety Director McCune, of Columbus, said the other day:

"Every man or woman who has purchased liquor from a bootlegger has aided and abetted in the murder of two Columbus policemen within six months. By encouraging bootlegging, by buying illicit whisky at high prices, people are bringing about a determination on the part of bootleggers to kill, if necessary, in order to continue their illegal operations. The public needs a slap in the face to awaken it to the evils illicit liquor selling heaps upon Columbus."

And what is true of Columbus is true of other cities and towns, all over the country.

The bootleggers are making big money.

They desire to continue making big money.

They are ready to violate the law and risk the penalty, in order to make big money; they are willing to do murder, in order to shield and protect themselves in their illegal traffic.

Decent citizen are you encouraging them—by patronizing them?

If you are—then you are a criminal.

There's no avoiding the truth.

There's no shying away from the facts.

And facts may be unwelcome; but they're stubborn things.

When you pay ten dollars for a bottle of bootleg whisky—you encourage crime; you invest ten dollars in violence—maybe in downright murder.

Let's be good citizens—no matter what we may think about the wisdom and justice of the Volstead act.

Attachments have resulted from the discharge of such pledges, the consequence being false registration, or exile to countries where such marriages are permitted.

REVENUES OF GOVERNMENT

Will Exceed Early Estimates, Officials State.

RECEIPTS ARE NOW ABOVE $600,000,000

come and Excess Profits Taxes Piling High—Another $100,000,000 in Sight.

Washington, March 23.—Federal revenues, this year, will exceed earlier estimates and decreases in receipts by the treasury will not seriously affect the secretary of the treasury's program of financing the government's needs, revenue officials declared yesterday.

Payments on income and profits taxes in the first installment paid by the taxpayers, March 15, have now passed $600,000,000. As officials went ahead with their tabulation of the preliminary figures sent in by revenue collectors, it was believed that this total would be easily increased by another $100,000,000. Last year, in the same period, the revenues amounted to nearly $900,000,000.

Secretary Mellon was informed today, that it may be several days before a complete estimate of the probable revenues, this year, from 1920 earnings, can be completed. Returns now in hand, however, have definitely dispelled fears of officials of any very large deficit in the tax receipts during the present year.

WITH THE PUGS

No Color Line.

Paris, March 23.—Georges Carentier will never draw the color line if he wins the world's championship and is challenged by a boxer of dusky hue. Carpentier made this stand known to friends here recently. It became known today. In discussing the scrapping merits to Harry Wills, the American negro touted as a contender for the world's title "For many reasons, I would not naturally choose colored fighters as opponents," said Carpentier. "But if I win the title and Wills or any other colored man challenges me, I'll take him on. Then I can claim the title as champion of all classes and all colors."

BASEBALL

To Defend Title.

New York, March 23.—Roger Hornsby, $250,000 beauty of the St Louis Cardinals and champion batsman of the National league, is out to defend his laurels. What's more, he hopes to better his 1920 record by invading the select class of "400 hitters," this year. Hornsby modestly tells of his ambition in a wire from Dixieland, received today by the International News service.

HOW THE FAR PAST PROVIDED FOR THE FUTURE

It was in ancient Babylonia before numerals were conceived to record the passing of centuries or clocks to mark the fleeting of hours. History in retrospection places the date at about 2240 B. C.

The arid lands of King Hammurabi were often so scorched by tropical suns that they would yield no grain to feed his starving people. Famine would guide the steps of death through his kingdom.

In a year when the crops were abundant King Hammurabi ordered his people to build great granaries where the surplus of grain might be stored to feed them in a year when the crops might be poor.

Thus was born the idea of saving today to provide for tomorrow. Today is the tomorrow, and you can't save money yesterday. It has passed. You must save today.

The Citizens Building & Loan Company is keeping safe today's savings for thousands of depositors for their to-tomorrow's needs. Your money will earn you 5% compound interest and you will find us on the South side of west Center St., 4th door west of square. Come in and let us pay you 5% on your savings.

Let the "Easy" Prove to You

In your own home that it can do the family washing better and with less effort than by hand at a saving of $10 to $15 a month.

Let it show how the two vacuum cups do the work of human hands.

By air pressure and suction these cups gently yet irresistibly force the hot, soapy water through the meshes of the garments sixty times a minute, taking a new position with each down stroke, washing dainty things such as silks and waists just as successfully as blankets, sheets, etc.

The big, open, copper tank, with its smooth, beautiful surface is easy to keep clean. There is no place for dirt to lodge. The tank is just the right height, making it easy to load and unload.

The wringer is another thing you will like, because it can be started, stopped or reversed, without interfering with the washing of the clothes. A gas heater also heats water to any desired temperature.

With all these good features, to say nothing about the hard labor it saves, is it any wonder that thousands of women who are using it week after week, are loud in their praise of the "EASY."

Won't you let the "EASY" do your next week's washing FREE and in this manner prove that it can do the family washing better and quicker at a saving of $10 to $15 a month.

LARUE MOTHERS' JEWELS BAND IS ENTERTAINED

News from LaRue and Country Round About.

LaRue, O., March 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. T. L. Shirk, secretary of the Mothers Jewels band, a branch of the Missionary society of the Methodist church, entertained the members Saturday afternoon. The meeting was held as a farewell to Freeda and Daniel McElheny, who will leave here Monday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. McElheny, for Richwood, where they will make their future home. A program was rendered, the opening of mite boxes being a feature. After the program games were played.

Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Myers, Mrs. Nellie Bonner and W. F. Kniffin were among those from this place who attended the funeral of Mrs. J. C. Bailey, held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Baptist church at Essex. Rev. Sutton had charge of the service. Mrs. Bailey was well known here to the older residents, having lived here years ago, and to the younger generations on account of frequent visits at the home of her daughter and her husband, Rev. and Mrs. F. E. Hawes, when they resided here just before they went to Marion.

The special evangelistic services in progress at the Mthodist church are growing in interest and attendance and will continue through the coming week. Rev. E. L. Ditzler, of Marion, occupied the pulpit both morning and evening Sunday, delivering powerful sermons. He also addressed the young people of the congregation Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and will preach each night during the coming week.

Thursday evening is the date given out for the next community meeting at Bells Corners school-house south of town where an interesting debate and literary program will be the attraction. The community is divided into two sections. The eastern section will debate at this time and the western section April 7. Competent judges will decide the results and the winners will be banqueted by the defeated section.

The Boys' Brotherhood class of the Baptist Sunday-school and a few guests were entertained by Harry W. Miller, Wednesday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Miller north of town. A business session was held at which time it was decided that the class would pay the sum of $100 toward the support of the pastor of the church. Several new names were added to the class membership. Games and contests were enjoyed. Mrs. W. F. Kniffin assisted Mrs. Miller in serving and entertaining.

At a recent meeting held in the G. A. R. hall at this place an organization was effected to be known as the Bowling Green Branch of the Marion County Farm bureau. It is made up of farmers from Bowling Green township. Officers were elected as follows: Charles H. Allen, president; Earl Sager, vice president; Everett Harris, secretary and treasurer, with J. W. Matthews, C. H. Allen, Fred Cooper and J. E. Harris as chairmen of the various committees.

The annual St. Patrick's Birthday supper, given in the G. A. R. hall, Saturday night, by the missionary society of the Baptist church, was well patronized, thee society realizing a neat sum for the treasury.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex McCreary, of Richwood, enroute to their new home in Chicago, passed a few days last week visiting with the latter's brother, H. W. Cleveland, and other relatives and friends. The McCrearys were residents of LaRue a number of years ago, Mr. McCreary having been connected with the business firm of McCreary & Herriman. They left here Friday for their new home.

The Home and Foreign Missionary society and the Ladies' guild of the Presbyterian church held a well-attended meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ida Bell, just west of town. Mrs. A. H. Davis had the foreign topic, "Japan," and Mrs. Floyd Topliff the home topic, "Ellis Island." A business session followed the program. The "mite boxes" were opened and election of officers for the coming year followed. The election resulted as follows: Mrs. John Alt, president; Miss Ella Rank, vice president; Mrs. Ida Bell, secretary, and Mrs. J. A. Terry, treasurer. A silver offering was taken. Guests other than society members were: Mrs. Fred Cooper, Mrs. John Janes, Mrs. O. W. White, Mrs. Emma Gaston, Mrs. Zoa Baker, Mrs. Carrie Brown.

The members of the Progressive class of the Baptist Sunday-school were entertained by Mrs. J. A. Williams, Mrs. W. H. Welling, Mrs. Olen Oldaker and Mrs. Margaret Miller at the home of the latter Wednesday afternoon. There were twenty present. A social hour followed the business meeting. A silver offering was taken.

J. N. Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rodgers, A. M. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Dever Scott were among the relatives from this place who attended the funeral of Mrs. R. B. Landon, held Wednesday afternoon in Marion.

Mrs. B. D. Osborn, of Waldo, superintendent of young people's Sunday-school work; Miss Victoria Jackson, of Marion, girl's president of county work; Raymond Schoonover and Mrs. Reece Gault, of Waldo, composed a quartet who came to LaRue Sunday morning and visited the three Protestant churches in the interest of county Sunday-school work and the young people's conference to be held in Marion April 8, at the same time the County Sunday-school convention convenes. A meeting was held in the Baptist church at 1:30 Sunday afternoon and officers were elected as follows: For the girls, Flora LaRue, president; Marie Crilton, vice-president; Dorothy Baker, secretary, and Dorothy Gracely, of Agosta, treasurer. For the boys, Altman Rank, president; Kenneth Ruckman, vice president; Donald Cedding, secretary, and Ernest Burnsides treasurer. T. L. Shirk was chosen township superintendent and Mrs. T. L. Shirk associate superintendent.

Mrs. Walter H. Lauer who has been spending the winter months in the South, was called to her home here last Tuesday on account of the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Oliver Shirk. Mrs. Shirk, who is suffering from rheumatism and a weak heart, is slightly improved.

George W. Wright, an inmate of the Soldiers and Sailors home at Sandusky, is a guest at the home of his son, Frank Wright, and family, at this place.

July 5 to 12 are the dates set for the LaRue Community Chautauqua. A fine program is promised and the Junior work will be taken up more extensively this year.

TRIPS GAILY ALONG IN BRIGHT SUNSHINE

And Tells Reporter All About It as She Trips.

Oh, joy!

"We knew it would be impossible for the weatherman long to resist our charms," said Miss Spring today when the Star's star weather-observing reporter caught up with her tripping lightly along in the bright sunshine. "You see, it takes all kinds of elements, all sorts of conflicting weather elements, to make the world go 'round," she added with just the slightest, daintiest curl of her lips as she adjusted her slender waist after the fashion of most girls when they are earnest-like in their conversation with a nice-looking man.

"Yes, it takes the sunshine to make the world go 'round. Everything bright is pretty. You know the prettiest thing in the world to the vast majority of earthbound folk is gold and that isn't altogether because it is bright either. But it is bright and that's one reason it is pretty. That's the reason it is gold.

"But pretty is as pretty does and I am going to make a sure-enough promise right now that it's going to be pretty weather if I have anything to do with it."

And she smiled the dimples' prettiest change in facial expression—really!

Oh, for more powerful smiling Miss Spring.

Didja notice how low the gas was yesterday? That question may be out of place here, but it persisted.

When you come to inspect the family of Dort cars we urge your particular attention to the craftsmanship displayed in the body construction.

Observe, if you will, the artistic nicety that attends the finish of even the smallest details.

Mark the finely modelled moulding and beautiful grace of the flowing lines. Contrast this wonderful body design with those that hitherto have stood highest in your estimation.

Beneath this charming body is the Dort chassis whose surprising ability to "stand up" and continue "sweet-running" and thrifty in operation is so familiar to automobile buyers, both in this country and abroad.

Holding A Husband

BY ADELE GARRISON.

"Do you suppose—" I breathlessly began, as Lillian came up the stairs after her conference with the new owners of the house on Mars a.

"I gather that you must have heard the dear woman," Lillian interrupted, with a mischievous nod toward the banister over which I was leaning. "And I suppose—that everything will be all right," she hastily added, evidently sensing, with her keen powers of perception, that I was extremely nervous over the parting threat of the woman whom Lillian had converted from enemy.

"You don't think, then, that she can make trouble over those spattered walls in the dining room?"

"Not if they are restored to their pre-shine freshness," Lillian answered. "Of Eighty," and I'm sure you won't be a week in which you and Jim ought to be able to—"

"But, Lillian," I protested, while the memory of Katie's red face as she had run out of the room after hearing from the women at the door of the sale of the house, "suppose Katie is so angry that she leaves and takes Jim with her?"

"She won't," Lillian asserted confidently, "and if she does—you don't know my capability for scrubbing and painting and moving. Sometimes I think I should have been a charwoman, I'm so efficient in that occupation."

I laughed in spite of myself, but loitered, hesitatingly, near the door of my room when we once more entered it.

"Perhaps I ought to see Katie. It is a shock to her, finding out about the sale of the house so unexpectedly."

"Do as you like, my dear," Lillian returned carelessly. "But you know what a wild cat she is. She'll upset you, and you have enough on hand this afternoon without adding complications. If Katie were my problem I'd let her simmer in her own anger juices until she [illegible] into calm. Luckily she has all this floor in order, so we can sleep here tonight after we dine at the Durkees. And as for breakfast I think we can manage it, don't you, even if Katie is on the rampage?"

"Of course," I answered her confident smile with a righteous one. "And I'll follow your advice gladly. But oh, what a mess I'll be in if she leaves!"

"She's angry enough just now to jump at that incentive for leaving. If you let her suspect your state of mind," Lillian said sagely. "Jim, however, well, he's 'something else again.' When he reappears—I judge he's gone somewhere away from the premises, for he didn't respond to Katie's wild summons of him awhile ago—it wouldn't be a bad idea to explain things quietly to him. That lad interests me. He goes along like a plodding draft horse, and apparently lets Katie boss him ruthlessly, but don't ever get it into your mind that the gray mare is the better horse in that humble menage."

"I found that out long ago," I assented. "And I'll watch for Jim from this window." I drew my low sewing-rocker to the window overlooking the garden. "Now, if you'll just turn those hems and baste where I've indicated, I think we'll be able to finish these before I have to leave to meet Dicky's train."

My confidence was justified. At three-thirty I rose from my low rocker, carefully picking the threads from my sewing apron before laying the last completed piece with the others on the bed. Lillian was already folding them ready to be carried over to the Durkee house.

As I glanced dubiously at my blouse—wurried at its lack of freshness, for Lillian and I had brought no changes with us when we came out, expecting to stay only a few hours—I thought for the first time with dismay of the sartorial dilemma which I would face in the evening at Mrs. Durkee's welcoming home dinner to Alfred and Leda.

I had nothing but the tailored skirt and somewhat wrinkled blouse while I knew that Mrs. Durkee, the little bride, and Edith would don pretty evening gowns for the occasion. And my critical, fastidious husband would have the contrast between Edith Fairfax's dainty attire and mine thrust most forcibly upon him. I glanced up at Lillian with unconscious appeal, and found her regarding me with a quizzical smile.

"There's a fresh blouse in your father's room for you," she said, smiling. "If you have time to change. And—well, look on the bed in there."

I dashed for my father's room, hurriedly unfastening my blouse and skirt as I did so. And I reached the bed I stared in amazement, and turned to envelop Lillian in a bear hug.

For, spread out upon the bed, was one of my evening gowns, one of Lillian's and a pretty frock for Marion, with every accessory of dress to go with it.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

Back Feel Lame, Sore and Achy?

Are you lame every morning? Do you drag through the day with a steady, nagging backache—evening find you "all played out?" Probably your kidneys are to blame. Hurry, worry, lack of rest and a heavy diet, all tend to weaken the kidneys. Your back gives out; you feel depressed and suffer headaches, dizziness and kidney irregularities. Don't go from bad to worse. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Home folks recommend them. Ask your neighbor!

Here's a Marion Case.

S. B. Shaw, retired farmer, 467 South Windsor street, says: "Hard work on the farm weakened my kidneys and brought on attacks of kidney trouble. When I stooped over, a stitch caught me in the small of my back. The kidney secretions passed too freely, breaking my rest at night. I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills at these times and they have always fixed me up."—Adv.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid Is Cause of Indigestion.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lump feeling in the chest, we orrticate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water brash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and continue this for one week. Your relief follows the first dose. It is important to neutralize the excess acidity, remove the gas-making mass in the liver, stimulate the kidneys, thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Adv.

Doctor Issues Warning And Tells How to Stop Tobacco Habit

New York: Dr. Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, says: I am often asked if I know anything to stop the tobacco habit and I always recommend Nicotol, which I have prescribed with great success. Nicotol contains no habit-forming drugs, is absolutely harmless and produces astonishing results in a very short time. The use of tobacco saps the vitality, vim, vigor and ambition of the slave who is enthralled by its seductive effects. It undermines the health and leaves the victim an easy prey to general debility, throat and lung trouble, nervousness, insomnia, heart trouble, kidney trouble, headache, tongue and lip cancer and even blindness. Physicians the world over often trace the start of the above diseases and many others to nicotine poisoning.

If you want to free yourself from tobacco go to any drug store and ask for Nicotol tablets. Take one tablet after each meal and in a short time you will have no desire for tobacco—the craving will have left you. With the nicotine poisoning out of your system your general health will quickly improve.

Note: When asked about Nicotol tablets, one of our leading druggists said: "It is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit—away ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money to every dissatisfied customer and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol is sold in this city under an iron-clad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists, including Henney & Cooper.—Adv.

GARIS' BEDTIME STORIES

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUNTY'S BLOCKS.

[BY HOWARD R. GARIS.]

[Copyright 1921, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

Uncle Wiggily Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman, was hopping through the woods one day to give his pink nose a twinkle, his tail silk hat a ride and his rheumatism a chance to see if any spring flowers were growing. All of a sudden Mr. Longears came to the house where Sammie and Susie Littletail lived.

"I think I'll stop and ask how those rabbit children are," said Uncle Wiggily. "I haven't seen them in nearly a week.

"Oh I'm so glad you stopped, Uncle Wiggily," said Mrs. Littletail, as she opened the door. "I can't do a thing with Baby Bunty! She's just too contrary and peevish for anything!"

"That's too bad," said the bunny uncle. "I'll come in and see if I can amuse her."

Baby Bunty was a lively little rabbit girl, who was always playing tag and tricks like that on Uncle Wiggily. She was, just now, visiting the Littletail family. But when Uncle Wiggily looked in the room where Baby Bunty sat, he did not see a very pleasant sight.

For Baby Bunty had thrown her playthings all over the floor, and she was sitting on top of her rag doll and she looked as cross as the letter X, Baby Bunty did.

"Why, Bunty!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "This isn't like you! What's the matter?"

"Oh, I want something new to play with!" pouted the little rabbit girl. "I'm tired of my rag doll and my roller skates and my dishes! I want something new!"

"Your blocks were new at Christmas," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. "Why don't you play with those?" and he pointed to the round, square, tall, short, thin, fat and all different kinds of building blocks that Baby Bunty had scattered over the floor.

"I'm tired of my blocks," said Baby Bunty. "There is nothing new in them. I want something exciting! I want to go to the movies!"

"It is so cold today, and looks so much like snow, that it wouldn't be wise for you to to the movies," said Uncle Wiggily, putting his tall silk hat on the clock shelf. "But perhaps I can show you some new games with your blocks, Baby Bunty."

"I don't believe you can, but it is very nice of you to offer," the little rabbit girl said, remembering her Sunday manners.

Uncle Wiggily sat down on the floor, and began to pile up Bunty's blocks. He put a tall one on a short one and a fat one under a thin one, the blocks being of different sizes, and soon Baby Bunty clapped her paws.

"Why, you've made a little trolley car!" she cried in delight. "I didn't know my blocks would make that!"

"It's all in the way you pile them up," said the bunny gentleman. Then he made a pretended automobile, a little fire engine and something like a merry-go-round.

"Oh, this is fun!" cried Baby Bunty. "May I knock them over, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Yes," said the bunny. "And then see what you can build of your blocks." Half the fun of playing with blocks is to knock over the things you build after you finish, and want something new, and Baby Bunty had this fun. Then she began to build up something very large and strange.

"What are you making, Baby Bunty?" asked Uncle Wiggily, for he couldn't tell what Bunty was doing.

"Hush!" whispered the little rabbit girl. "I'm making a surprise castle, where a pretend giant lives. Come over here with me!"

"I want to nibble some rabbit cats!" growled the Fox.

Uncle Wiggily crawled over the floor close to Baby Bunty, and the little rabbit girl piled up the blocks so they looked like a castle, with towers, minarets, balconies and everything else. The front of the castle was so big and tall that Uncle Wiggily and Baby Bunty could hide behind it, and while they were thus hidden, all of a sudden, in came the Fuzzy Fox. Uncle Wiggily had forgotten and left the door open for the bad chap.

"I want to nibble some rabbit cats!" growled the fox, as he glared at Uncle Wiggily and Baby Bunty through the windows of the block castle. "Bur-r-r-r! I want cats!"

"Oh, do you? Well, take that!" cried Baby Bunty, and with her foot she gave the blocks a sudden shove, and down fell the castle, towers, balconies, minarets, walls and everything else right on the bad fox!

"Oh, now!" he screeched. "I didn't think a castle would fall on me! This is no place for me!" And away he ran. And how Baby Bunty laughed! She wasn't a bit peevish any more.

Carolina Lady Got So She Could Just Drag.—"Cardui Built Me Up," She Declares.

Kernersville, N. C.—In an interesting statement regarding Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, Mrs. Wesley Mabe, of near here, recently said: "I have known Cardui for years, but never knew its worth until a year or so ago. I was in a weakened, run-down condition. I became draggy—didn't eat or sleep to do any good; couldn't do anything without a great effort. I tried different remedies and medicines, yet I continued to drag.

"I decided to give Cardui a trial, and found it was just what I really needed. It made me feel much stronger soon after I began to use it. I began to eat more, and the nervous, weak feeling began to leave. Soon I was sleeping good.

"Cardui built me up as no other tonic ever did.

"I used Cardui with one daughter who was puny, felt bad and tired out all the time. It brought her right out, and soon she was as well as a girl could be. We think there is nothing like Cardui."

Do not allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. You may find it just what you really need. For more than 40 years it has been used by thousands and thousands, and found just as Mrs. Mabe describes.

Comfort Your Skin With Cuticura Soap and Fragrant Talcum

JUBILEE'S PARDNER

by Judd Mortimer Lewis

Illustrations by Edwins

It is warmer yet today and muddier. My father says that it is muddier because the frost is coming out of the ground. My grandfather says the frost does not come out in cold weather, he says it comes out in warm weather, so as to get warm. He says if it keeps warm for a while and then March goes out like a lion it will kill all the fruit, and there will not be any apples or peaches or anything. If there is not any fruit Red's father, who is a huckster, will have to buck potatoes.

My father says that one good thing about Jubilee is that he does not eat very much. I bet if he could see me sending squirts into his mouth every morning when I milk the cow and her dotter he would change up his mind.

I had to stay in at recess today because Nibs found a bent pin in his seat and I was the only one that laughed when he jumped. Jonesy says I have got a sense of goomer, whatever that is, but I have not got much of any other kind of sense.

Maggie the mut which got fascinated on her leg so it would not show when she wears a low necked dress, brung her lunch to school in a paper bag and I asted her for the bag and she gave it to me. I run out in the hall and got it full of water and was running up across the teacher's platform to lean out of the window and drop it on somebody's head but it was not a very good bag and it busted on the teacher's platform, and when she came back in the room she looked supprized but Maggie did not tell on me and I was looking at my jogafy.

Jonesy kept looking at me and I kept looking at it till I had to put one eye up over the top of it, and she said, "Thomas Aristides, who poured water on my platform?" I said, "I ain't no tattletale hanging on the bull's tail," then she looked at Maggie and said, "Maggie, what did you do that for?" and Maggie said, "I was bringing in some water to put in your vase in a paper bag and the bag busted."

Then Jonesy looked at us for quite a while, and then she said, "Thomas Aristides, was it not Younies who waited for you outside when you had to stay in the other night?" I said "Yes mom." Then she held her paper up over her face so we could not see it. I would of told her that I done it then, only then she would know Maggie was a liar, so I did not know what to do and I did not do anything.

When I had went to bed and got to sleep someone shook me and I woke up and they said, "Push over."

"Push over a little ways, can't you?"

a little ways can't you?" It was Bunty and he had climb up over our roof. We talked about ghosts a long time. He told me that he did not dast to stay at home alone

The oil you use determines the life of your engine

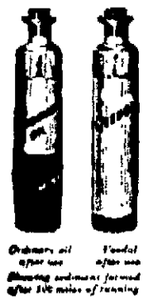
Engines kept running smoothly for 50,000 miles

WHEN the time comes to sell the old car—perhaps when you think that a new coat of paint will make it do—is the engine worth anything, or has it begun to wheeze like an old steamboat? That's the real question.

With proper lubrication any car should last for at least 50,000 miles. 90% of all engine troubles are due to inferior oil. Under the terrific heat of the engine—200° to 1000° F.—ordinary oil forms great quantities of black sediment. Bearings pound, cylinders score.

Sediment is reduced 86% when you use Veedol, the lubricant that resists heat. (See the two bottles below.) With Veedol in the engine, most troubles are prevented.

Have your engine flushed out. Put in Veedol. Keep your car running for its full life of 50,000 miles or more. Leading dealers have Veedol in stock.



Ordinary oil after use — Veedol after use

Showing sediment formed after 500 miles of running

Veedol lubricants for every part of the car

Use Veedol lubricants for all parts of the car: VEEDOL for the engine (light zero, medium, heavy, special heavy, extra heavy); for the differential and transmission, VEEDOL TRANSGEAR OIL or GEAR COMPOUND; for the tractor and truck, WORM DRIVE OIL; GRAPHITE GREASE; CUP GREASE.

DEATH'S FEAR

The International Sunday School Lesson for March 27 is "The Living Christ"—Easter Lesson — Matthew 28:1-10, 16-20.

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

A wholesale struggle with death is being waged in China as these words are being penned; there fifteen million people and at close grips with starvation. It seems incongruous to write upon the joyous Easter theme when the clamours of the mortally hungry are to be heard in such an enormous volume of woe, with the wailing of women beside the uncoffined dead as a minor undertone; when such decades of suffering and hopelessness are being crowded into a few months. Yet after all, it is when we draw nearest to death, where the dread secret of existence hides, that we see in its full magnitude and symmetry and splendor the glorious hope of immorality.

In the famine field even a careless observer sees that they who are without God are without hope in the world. Lacking this factor which lies at the basis of all the though of Christendom, men become as beasts in their efforts to preserve within their breasts the vital spark. Almost every hour of a journey through China in the time of even a minor famine one encounters some new story of the awful price that people are paying in order to preserve their existence. That they fill their stomachs with leaves and roots is not to be wondered at; nor yet that they push and scramble and fight for a dole of their rice gruel at the relief stations. Years ago I saw an American rescue a little girl and an old, old woman who were being crushed in this way; and I saw an old man and woman who had thus been seriously injured by the mob which crowded for food.

It would be easy for me to fill this column with stories of such selfishness on the part of people who have no sustaining faith or exalted Christian principles in this life and who do not feel any hope of life after death. All are pertinent illustrations of the Easter truth that the glorious hope of a resurrection is one of the potent factors in what we call civilized conduct. Take this out of the consciousness of Christendom and you lower society to the level of China in famine.

Best Life or Beast Life.

Sane old Paul, who saw straight and thoroughly into a subject, knew this when he said, in proving the nature of the doctrine of the resurrection, "If the dead are not raised, let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die." Without this truth of the spirit's immorality man exchanges the best life for the beast life. If death ends all, then all is not worth while. Again to quote Paul, the person whose soul is not sustained by this dear hope of a life beyond the grave, is "of all men most pitiable."

Why are thousands of men and women thronging New York's "Great White Way" every night? They are seeking "life." Why is the famous broad-walk of Atlantic City crowded today? The promenaders are after "life." How explain the full steamers that ply like ferries across the oceans? Travelers are after "life." For what reason are American men driven by the money madness that blights our time? They hope to win "life." How may we explain the craze of many kinds of persons to get their names into the newspapers? They think that spells "life." Look into the theaters, the restaurants, and the hotels of the great cities, and still you see this wild pursuit of "life." Today's guest of all guests is this lust for "life."

Pathetically many are on the wrong trail. They are dazzled by false fires, and in their blindness they affix the label "life" to much that savors of death. The delusion and disappointment of the multitudes who have sacrificed real values for shom is a spectacle that saddens all beholding hearts.

The great mass of people who hold to the Easter expectation may not be blind to the truth that the docrine of the resurrection is constantly severely attacked. With all respect for the scholars who are troubled upon this point, it must be borne in mind that this attempt to discredit he resurrecion of Jesus is not, as they fondly believe, "advanced theology;" it has been one of the favorite endeavors of Satan ever since the wonder-stricken women beheld the empty tomb in Joseph's garden.

The Big Offer.

The unique character of Christianity is that it really offers life. Other faiths have varying rewards, but Christ's Gospel maintains the stupendous claim that it has life to impart here and now. True, He offers eternal life, lasting through two worlds but that life begins in the present.

Because of the Easter teaching that old, old enemy of the race, the fear of death, is driven out of the Christian's thought. Again and again Christians have taught the world what it is to die unfearingly; ancient Rome trembled before that spectable, and China is today witnessing it in the conduct of the missionaries who are going among the famine sufferers, distributing relief. For it is the Christian's privilege to master the fear of death. Because Jesus has risen from the dead, and because he also expects one day to rise, he can cry, "O grave, where is thy victory? O death, where is toy sting?"

Christ comes to the empty aching, aching hearts of men and proffers His great gift of life—life ever and ever riches. Christianity stands for a new mind a new spirit, a new animus, a new genius, essentially, a new life. "The words that I speak unto you, they are spirit and they are life."

Conquerors and the Conqueror.

The high point of the present lesson, as, indeed, of all Christian teaching, is the victory of Christ over death. That was His final victory. But His whole life may be studied as a series of conquests. He ha soften been compared with the other great conquerors of history: Pharaoh, Xerxes, Alexander, Caesar Charlemagne, Tamarlane, Napoleon.

But what a difference! Mr. John Wanamaker owns a painting of gigantic size called "The Conquerors." It is of compelling interest and one returns to it again and again. There rides the bannered host of strong-faced men, who have dreamed the dream of world dominion. But they ride through a lane of dead. Stark and stiff, two lines of corpses stretch on both sides of them. It was by pain, loss, sorrow and death that they came to their power.

But imagine the Christ-Conqueror's triumphal march. Little children throng His feet. He rides, meek and lowly, upon the humblest of animals. The garments of the glad and the grateful strew His way. The hosannas of the healed and the happy rend the air. The lame leap, the blind see, the lepers are cleansed; the dead are back from the tomb. The line is longer than mind can compass, for there now follow in His train a countless multitude of those whom He has redeemed and made to rejoice. And chained to His conquering chariot, a craven captive, is the race's old master, death.

Rome is a city of ruins that remain to remind us of Imperial Caesars. What toppled over the unparalleled dominion? The simple news of a crucified, risen Saviour. One of the characteristic sights of Rome, which is somewhat grotesque from an artistic standpoint, is yet full of symbolism: the pre-Christian obelisks and pillars that have been surmounted by bronze crosses. Paul in the Mamertine prison, a dark and terrible dungeon which the visitors today may see, had more power than Nero in his golden palace; and he is today held in great honor. For he spoke a living message, whereas Nero merely wielded material force.

What all the world needs today above everything else is to know the truth of the Gospel that transforms life into newness and love and power and beauty; which is the resurrection message. Our times do not call for a new religion, but only for a new expression of the old reality that Christ, who rose from the dead can take these poor grave-bound lives of ours and give them the very glory of immortality. The resurrection message—"If ye then be risen with Christ, see those things which are above"—can do more for the world than agreements and treaties.

The Trumpet Chorus.

The magazines are fond of telling over and over at Easter time the story of how the little Pennsylvania town of Bethlehem celebrates the advent of Easter. The Moravians hail the dawn with a trumpet chorus from the church steeples. Then to the graveyards they go playing triumphant music. Their Easter faith is songful; it sounds the refrain of victory. In that faith the early Christians so conducted themselves that the onlooking heathen were moved to cry, "Behold how these Christians can die."

The Lord is risen indeed.
He is here for your love, for your need
Not in the grave, nor the sky.
But here where men live and die;
And true the word that was said;
"Why seek ye the living among the dead!"
Wherever are tears and sighs,
Wherever are children's eyes.
Where man calls man his brother,
And loves as himself another,
Christ lives! The angels said:
"Why seek ye the living among the dead?"

—Richard Watson Gilder.

Grateful Women

Gratitude and appreciation for health restored by that good old fashioned root and herb medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is what prompts so many women from all parts of the country to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass., the letters of praise which we publish from time to time. Women who have always had their health can not realize what it means to others, many of whom have suffered months and even years from such ailments, and are now well and happy through the use of this natural restorative, Lydia E. Oh How Glorious to Be Free From Rheumatism's Tortures!

Just suppose you could be free from your despondent, agonizing rheumatic aches and pains, your stiff joints and unsightly swellings! Wouldn't you give anything to get rid of them?

You have doubtless rubbed on outside treatments; most rheumatism sufferers have. Some of these take the edge off the terrible pains for a few hours, but they do not strike at the cause, which nearly always lies in the poisoned, impoverished blood.

When this is so, you need an internal remedy, one that will take out the impurities that are torturing you, one like famous S.S.S., which has relieved thousands of cases of rheumatism all over the country just this way.

Get S.S.S. from your druggist today, and after starting with it write us a history of your case, addressing Chief Medical Advisor, 157 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia.

RELATIVES TRYING TO GET HER TO FORGET IT

Don't Like Creed That Bible Prohibits Wedlock.

Mrs. John A. Dunn, of Minneapolis, formerly Miss Alvina Shenenman, of Marion, whose conversion to a new religious creed teaching that the Bible prohibits wedlock, has informed relatives here that she has no intention of leaving her husband and that she expects to return to him in Minneapolis in a few weeks. She is now visiting Bybalia relatives, who brought her to that place last Friday for a rest, on the advice of her physicians, her physical condition having been affected by excitement over this new religion, relatives said today. They are endeavoring to persuade her to give up her new religious ideas before she returns to her home.

Relatives of Mrs. Dunn claim that the death of her seventeen-year-old daughter, last week, was not due to neglect, as intimated by her husband in Minneapolis.

MARION COUNTY TEACHER BANK ROBBERY WITNESS

Glenn F. Oliver Called to New York City.

PRESUMABLY TO IDENTIFY ALLEGED ARRESTED YEGG

Oliver Is Bank Customer at Wyomissing, Pennsylvania, at Time of Robbery.

With the summons to the East of Glenn F. Oliver, acting principal of the Morral Centralized school, to identify men arrested recently in connection with the big bank robbery at Wyomissing, Pennsylvania, last February, Marion county again figures in the developments in the case.

Hold-up men secured $189,000 in cash and bonds in the bank robbery and escaped in an auto. The after placing the bank employes and two customers in a vault. Oliver was one of the customers locked up by the bandits.

In a raid on an apartment in New York City last week, police arrested two men as suspects of the hold-up and three women, one of whom was Miss Lettie Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Johnson, of Green Camp. The Johnson girl was virtually held as a prisoner in the apartment by the alleged bandits. The women were released and Miss Johnson was to be sent to her sister in Chicago.

Oliver Gets a Twist.

Mr. Oliver, whose home is in East Palestine, held a position in the employment branch of an industrial concern at Reading, Pennsylvania, of which Wyomissing is a suburb. In straightening up his affairs preparatory to returning to Ohio, Mr. Oliver went to the Wyomissing bank to draw his money and was just in the act of reaching through the teller's window for the funds when the hold-up men entered and commanded "Hands up."

Oliver said that for some unaccountable reason the full meaning of the move did not dawn upon him and he felt not the slightest degree of fear. Instead of complying with the order he picked up his bank book and some currency and was in the act of putting them in the inside pocket of his coat when one of the bandits ran up and pressed the muzzle of a pistol against his stomach. This, he said, brought him to a realization of what was taking place and his hands went up without hesitation.

Gets an Eyeful.

One of the bandits remained outside the bank in an automobile, four entered the building and one stood guard at the door and directed the proceedings. The hold-up man who took charge of Oliver, forced him into a back room and made him lie down on the floor. Instead of lying face down, Oliver turned on his side at an angle which permitted him to get a good view of the bandit in the room. Since the arrest of the suspects in New York, Oliver has identified newspaper pictures of Stuart F. Wallace and the one who forced him into the back room of the bank.

One of the bank tellers was forced by the robbers to open the vault and while they were collecting the loot a young woman of the banking force came from a back room, screamed and was immediately made a prisoner by the hold-up men.

Encouraging Outlook.

The attaches of the bank, Oliver and another customer who went into the building while the bandits were at work were placed in the safe. Just as the hold-up men were closing the door the woman clerk told them that all of them could live in the vault only a short time.

When the robbers had gone, Oliver discovered that the time lock on the vault had not caught and with the assistant of a woman clerk, he opened the door. The cashier was just coming down from an upstairs room as the prisoners released themselves and the alarm was given.

Oliver's return to Ohio was delayed for a week or more on account of the bank robbery. At the request of detectives he went to New York with them and spent a week going through various places in an effort to locate the robbers, his actions during the hold-up having given him an unusual opportunity to impress upon his mind the features of at least one of the bandits.

Oliver Goes.

Although a large number of suspects were rounded up, none of them were identified as the Wyomissing robbers. Oliver returned to Ohio and for some time has been acting as principal of the Morral school during the illness of C. H. Teath.

Sunday evening Mr. Oliver received a telegram from detectives instructing him to be in New York City Monday. He wired it would be impossible to make the trip in that short time and asked for further details. Monday he received another wire to be in New York Tuesday, and he left Marion Monday evening. Mr. Oliver was of the opinion that his services would consist merely of identifying the suspects and did not believe it would be necessary for him to remain in the East for the hearing of the suspects.

Since his arrival in New York, Oliver has notified friends here that, due to some technicality, he will not get to see the three suspects held in the Tombs until Thursday. He has already, however, identified pictures of two of the men. Another suspect is being held in Reading, Pennsylvania, and Oliver will be taken there to identify this prisoner.

WYANDOT COUNTY SHERIFF SEEKS WIFE'S REMOVAL

Conduct Unbecoming a Jail Matron, He Says.

Charges were filed against Mrs. Susan Swartz Tuesday by A. K. Hall as prosecuting attorney, asking her removal as jail matron, says Tuesday's Upper Sandusky Chief, Mrs. Swartz being formerly Mrs. Sue Ash, of Marion. The charges were filed in the common pleas court, probate division, and the hearing has been set for Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Dr. R. A. Sheppard, county coroner, had again to act as sheriff and served the notice and copies of motion. The motion asking removal states that Mrs. Swartz was made jail matron on January 3. The sheriff moves to have her dismissed because she "has assumed and attempted to assume jurisdiction and control of prisoners confined in the jail, not falling within her duties as such matron." It is alleged she interferes with the sheriff in the discharges of his duties, that she gives the prisoners "unsafe and unwarranted liberties," that she has allied herself on the side of the prisoners confined in said jail, especially one Samuel Robert Duvall;" that she has "conducted herself in a way and manner unbecoming a jail matron."

Youngstown Board Names a Building After President.

By a vote of five to four, President Harding was a winner over ex-President Hayes at the meeting of the board of education Monday afternoon and as a result of the new conservatory school to be located in Cordovie avenue, directly north of the new Rayen school site at Ohio and Benita avenues, will be known as the Harding school. The board also voted to name the one-story school planned for Schenley avenue, after Cleveland and the one to be erected at Cochran park after Taft in accordance with the custom of selecting the names of presidents for the school buildings.

When the report of the buildings and sites committee on the names of the schools was made, Henry A. Butler moved to substitute Harding name for that of Hayes. This raised the question whether or not the names of ex-presidents only were to be taken; but when the matter came to a vote, Baker, Bray, Butler, Inglis and Manchester voted for the substitution, and Hulin, McDonald, Rudge and Thompson voted against it. On the original report as amended, carrying the names of Harding, Cleveland and Taft, all but Hulin and McDonald voted fro the motion and these names were selected.

Before the meeting, when the question was being discussed, it was suggested that the name of Wilson be used instead of Harding; but even the non-partisan school board would not permit the names of two Democrats and only one Republican to be used.—Youngstown Telegram.
